WHAT'S IN THE NEWS?

The Tokyo Olympics are going to be postponed. Japan has worked very hard for the last seven years to make the Olympic Games a success, so it is very disappointing. However, there is a very good word in the Japanese language for this situation. It is "shikiri naoshi." It's time to reset and start again. This can become an opportunity to make the Olympics an even greater event. In the same way, there may be some disappointments in the coming school year for you. It is important to remember that a disappointment is always an opportunity for "shikiri naoshi!"
